

Celebrating the Day of the English Language with David Newby

To celebrate the Day of the English Language David Newby will present his book of short stories Worlds Apart, stories about love, language and cultures, with light-hearted reflections on the British way of life and the English language.

Book presentation

DAVID NEWBY WORLDS APART

Stories about love, language and cultures

A must for lovers of British humour
and the English language

Extracts from stories performed by
NICHOLAS ALLEN (Vienna's English Theatre; Radio Ö1)
LISA BURNAGE (Ambassador of InterNations/Graz)
NANCY CAMPBELL (University of Graz)
Moderated by Paul Klingenberg (Verlag Klingenberg)

Thursday, 23 May 2024
Café Kaiserfeld, 19.00
Kaiserfeldgasse 19, 8010 Graz
Free entry

“This blessed plot, this earth, this realm, this England” – William Shakespeare

“Deep down, in his heart of hearts, Professor Heinrich Strasser did not really like the English” – David Newby